

TALES FROM TEWKSBURY.

Miss Bowen's Character Defended by Gov. Butler—More Sensational Testimony.
 Boston, April 19.—The sensational nature of the Tewksbury alms-house hearing yesterday served to draw a large attendance to-day, and Gov. Butler, on his arrival, was received with applause.

Mr. Brown repeated his question of yesterday as to the name by which Miss Bowen was known in New York. It was agreed that a letter from H. S. King, of Twenty-eighth street and Broadway, New York, should be read, but not given to the public, notwithstanding said letter is printed. The letter does not contain the name of the witness, but gives a history of her downfall, in which, it says, a well-known citizen was prominent. It also states that her father drove her from home and then secured her incarceration at Tewksbury; also that he tried to poison her, but only succeeded in killing her infant. Mr. Brown suggested that Miss Bowen tell her New York name to two members of the committee and another person that he should select, and that they should investigate the matter of her life in New York. In answer to questions by Mr. Brown, the witness, Miss Bowen, stated that she had lived in No. 20 Lyman street, New York, a house of ill repute, before her child was born. Various questions tending to criminate the witness were asked when the Governor protested against this effort to blacken her character as a means of weakening her testimony. Mr. Brown said he proposed to show up the witness life, and at this point the committee, between counsel became decidedly acrimonious and personal, being on whether the witness should give her New York name to the committee. It was finally decided that she should not, and accordingly it was written on paper and handed to the committee. The witness then entered into the details of her life. She said that Nellie Marsh at Tewksbury attempted to poison her, the inference being that her father wanted to get rid of her, at the instigation of her stepmother, who was the cause of all her persecution. Much of the testimony of the witness had no bearing on the original purpose for which the investigation was started, and is unfit for publication. The governor asked the witness to read the book of the hospital in 1875.

Dr. Caroline Hastings, a physician at the Moral Reform society's establishment, testified favorably as to Miss Bowen's physical condition as the time of her confinement. Mr. Brown attempted to show the contrary. Much of this testimony is unfit for publication.

Mrs. Catharine Powers, who was employed at the almshouse, testified that she took her six children with her to the institution; that her baby was taken from her and thrown into a bath tub where diseased children had just bathed, and was wiped with the same towel used on these children; and that it was the most horrible place she had ever been in. She testified that the children were in the bath. One woman, 70 years old, was beaten with a stick, and all the females had their hair cut close and soft soap deluged over them. On cross examination witness said she had been in Bridgewater for a year for alleged drunkenness.

Interesting News from Cuba.
 Havana, April 19.—A closer examination into the accounts and of the stock of stamped paper on hand has disclosed the fact that the thieves who broke into the vault where the government deposits its stamps have, contrary to the first impression, been operating quite successfully. Postage and telegraph stamps and stamped paper to the value of nearly $280,000 in gold are missing. The police are said to be on the track of the thieves, a package of stamps and stamps having been intercepted at the Matanzas office.

The excessive amount of Mexican silver dollars circulating in Cuba causes a more or less serious depreciation of their value in several localities. The traders at San Spiritus have agreed to receive none of them for more than ninety cents on the dollar.

A fire on the tenth instant destroyed six cane fields on the San Teresa plantation, near Melena del Sur.

The Memphis Races.
 Memphis, Tenn., April 19.—There was only a fair attendance at the races to-day, caused by rain during the morning.

The first, a selling race, five-eighths of a mile, was won by Constantine, with Hickory Jim, the favorite, second, and Jim Turner third. Time, 1:10.

Second race—The cotton exchange stake for three-year-old colts, one and a half miles. The favorite, Drake Carter, won, Joe S. second, and Sovereign Pat third. Time, 2:43.

The third race, a mile dash, with a weight, was won by Lute Fogle, the favorite, with Buckmaster second and Eulalie third. Time, 1:50.

The fourth race, a steeple chase, about two and a half miles, was won by Twilight, with Eva A., the favorite, second, and Eulalie third. Time, 5:37.

Florence D. fell and threw her rider, Eva A., although well in the lead, became unmanageable and ran outside the fag.

Winchester News.
 Special Dispatch.
 Winchester, Va., April 19.—The board of directors of the national bank of this place a few days since elected Mr. John W. Rice, late assistant cashier, cashier, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Tilton Shumate. Mr. H. Douglas Fuller was elected assistant cashier, and Mr. S. H. Hansbrough, runner. These elections give entire satisfaction in business circles.

Ex-Gov. Fred W. M. Holliday, of Virginia, has started on an extended trip through Europe. He expects to be absent about eight months.

Died in a Wonderful Manner.
 Philadelphia, April 19.—A special from Reading says: Miss Dora Heels, 17 years of age, died here to-day of a rupture of a blood vessel brought about in a very strange manner. Two years ago a small lump appeared upon her upper right arm. It increased gradually until recently the arm was thirty inches in circumference. She refused to submit to an amputation. The enlargement of the bone caused the arteries to burst, hemorrhage followed, and she died of exhaustion. The arm weighed forty-two pounds, and the affliction was exceedingly painful.

The Medical College of Virginia.
 Richmond, Va., April 19.—The supreme court of appeals of this state to-day rendered a decision in the case of the Medical College of Virginia. This is the case in which the government removed the old board of visitors of that institution and appointed a new board. The court is of the unanimous opinion that the governor had the right to fill the vacancies that might occur in the old board, but that he had no right to create vacancies by removal in order to fill them. So the college remains under the same management as heretofore.

What the Saloon Keepers Will Do.
 Cincinnati, April 19.—The Saloon Keepers' association have formally determined to oppose by every available legal method the operation of what is known as the Scott law, which imposes a tax of $200 a year on all saloons where spirituous liquors are sold, and $100 where only beer and wine are sold. It is understood that the brewers and whisky dealers will join in opposition to the law. Their plan will probably be to bring a test case before the courts as soon as possible to try the constitutionality of the law.

A Band of Outlaws.
 Little Rock, Ark., April 19.—In the southern portion of the Choctaw nation, Indian territory, yesterday John S. Lenox, a Texas desperado, at the head of a band of outlaws, surprised United States Marshal D. H. Lyman, who was in charge of some prisoners, and killed him. The outlaws then set the prisoners free.

Another Railway Rumor.
 Philadelphia, April 19.—There was a rumor in financial circles in this city to-day, that the Pennsylvania Railway company was about to become the possessor of a controlling interest in the New Jersey Central railway. It was said that parties had been buying the stock in open market, very actively of late for the purpose of the Pennsylvania company. The rumor however was not very widely credited, and inquiry at the office of the latter company elicited an emphatic denial of the story.

VINDICATION OF MRS. SPRAGUE.

The Full Text of the Letter of Her Counsel Refuting Sprague's Falsehoods.
 A synopsis of the letter of Mrs. Sprague's counsel, in reply to Sprague's falsehoods uttered at Staunton, Va., was furnished by the associated press, and appeared in THE REPUBLICAN as it did in the press generally. We print below the entire letter, which has since come to hand, and which will be read with interest. It will be seen that it presents much that was not stated in the brief press dispatch:

TO THE EDITORS OF THE Republican, STAUNTON, VA.—Sir: A copy of your paper of the sixteenth of March, 1883, has been placed in our hands, from which it appears that William Sprague, of Rhode Island, in order to procure a license to marry again, and to induce a clergyman to perform the ceremony, made certain statements in regard to the conduct of the children of Mrs. Sprague, to the commonwealth attorney, and to the Rev. J. D. Hallahan, all of your city, which statements, having been published by you, and being not only false, but also libelous of a most honorable and worthy lady, wife, and counsel in her suit for divorce from Gov. Sprague, feel it our duty, in justice to her, to ask that you publish this statement of facts in the case.

When interrogated as to its being lawful for him to marry, Gov. Sprague, as you publish, responded: "I wish to state to you the ground on which I was divorced. I applied for a divorce from my wife on the ground of adultery. She filed a cross bill charging me with the same offense. She, after a short time, withdrew her cross bill against me. I did not withdraw mine. They remained, and on that standing of the case the court in New York granted me a divorce and divided the custody of the children. What is your opinion?" You add that "on the return of the clergyman and Mr. Echols to the hotel Gov. Sprague answered the questions, which had been for greater caution written down by Mr. Hollahan, satisfactorily, in view of the requirements of the canon bearing on the case. These are the questions answered:

Q. Are you a divorced man or not? A. I am divorced.
 Q. Please state the grounds upon which the divorce was granted. A. Adultery.
 Q. Was this charged upon your divorced wife or yourself? A. Upon my wife.
 Q. Was there any such charge preferred against you on the proceedings? A. There was not.

It is difficult for us to believe that any one deliberately made the statements, as they are entirely without truth. Yet, we are not as yet so contradicted of the report. The facts are that Mrs. Catharine Chase Sprague applied to the supreme court of Rhode Island for a divorce from Gov. Sprague, alleging repeated adulteries, cruelty, and neglect. She provided for herself and their children, though abundantly able to do so, the latter charge being sufficient cause for divorce under the statutes of Rhode Island, and Gov. Sprague opposed the trial, making various allegations against his wife. The testimony of many witnesses establishing the truth of Mrs. Sprague's complaint was promptly taken, and she was ready for trial at an early date, but, upon one pretext and another and against her maiden name, she was postponed until a year, without apparent preparation by her. Finally, we attended the court at South Kingston, R. I., Feb. 20, 1882, fully prepared for trial, with depositions taken and numerous exhibits, and the court, after a long and careful consideration of the evidence, rendered its verdict in our favor. The court decided that the trial must proceed, whereupon Gov. Sprague and his counsel approached us, proposing to withdraw their petition and all charges against Mrs. Sprague if she would waive proof of adultery against him, and consent to let the cause be tried on the remaining grounds of cruelty and non-support. Gov. Sprague then furnished Judge Hooley with a written retraction of all charges against his wife for adultery, and the decree of divorce was granted.

Knowing that Mrs. Sprague had no object except to secure her divorce and protect her children from discredit as far as possible consistently with justice and right, we, her counsel, having been procured by telegram her authority to act on her discretion, assumed the responsibility for her, waiving the charges of adultery and cruelty and allowing the case to rest on the less offensive charge. Following this conference, Gov. Sprague's counsel in open court, Sprague being present, and before the trial, withdrew his petition and all the allegations it contained. Thereupon testimony was introduced which established to the satisfaction of the court that Gov. Sprague had failed to support his wife and children, and though abundantly able to do so, and on this ground a decree of absolute divorce was granted in favor of Mrs. Sprague, with permission at her discretion to resume her maiden name of Catharine Chase Sprague, and never again to be subject to the custody of the three younger children, daughters, to the mother, the remaining child, a boy near manhood, not being subject under the laws of Rhode Island to the control of the court in such an action. The consideration extended to Gov. Sprague was fully acknowledged. He proposed to surrender and deliver, and did execute a written instrument to deliver to our client, a son of Gov. Sprague, a relative of the Mrs. Sprague, as trustee for the children of the Mrs. Sprague, but for the withdrawal by Gov. Sprague of all charges against his wife, and also of his petition, we were not bound to accept of his withdrawal of proof of the charges against him, or to take the decree of divorce upon the minor ground.

There has been so much misrepresentation of the facts of this case, not only by the statements of Gov. Sprague referred to, but for years, that we feel called upon, as her counsel, to enter a protest, and in view of all the facts, we have advised her to resume her maiden name.
